

02 Nov 2023 | Partnered Content

Podcast: Overcoming Regulatory Challenges in a Complex Clinical Trial Landscape

by

Listen in as Citeline sits down with a regulatory and compliance expert from Advanced Clinical. Capture new insights into the present state of regulatory as advancements in technology, a shift to patient-centricity, and the globalization of clinical trials combine to change workflows and trial design. Plan your strategy now and develop new ways to master these complexities, with information from this free podcast.

Don't miss expert perspectives on the key regulatory and tech elements and challenges faced by biopharma as they navigate the increasingly complicated global regulatory considerations for today's clinical trials. Explore:

- Key challenges in developing and managing today's clinical trials from a regulatory perspective
- Benefits and limitations of artificial intelligence (AI) in regulatory and compliance
- The essential element that makes adapting to increasing regulatory complexity easier
- Strategies for handling future regulatory challenges
- Outlook for global harmonization of regulatory for clinical trials

Click here to explore this interactive content online

Enjoyed this podcast? Find part one here and part two here