

04 Sep 2024 | Partnered Content

Podcast: Improving Human Healthcare With Health-Related Quality Of Life (HRQoL) Assessments

by Scrip Team

In this podcast, Janelle Hart, Managing Editor at Citeline, teams up with industry experts Mai Yee Mishir, Senior Director of Global Regulatory Affairs, and Sally-Ann McDowell, Senior Director of Clinical Development Strategy at Advanced Clinical, to discuss the vital role of HRQoL in clinical trials.

Measuring the efficacy of a treatment beyond physical measures yields vital insights into the true value of a drug. Explore how HRQoL's social, mental, and functional assessments contribute to a therapeutic's success across the entire drug development lifecycle.

Don't miss insights from Citeline and the experts at Advanced Clinical.

Listen now for expert perspectives on:

-
- Defining and measuring HRQoL
- Planning clinical trials with a focus on the importance of HRQoL
- Incorporating HRQoL into today's clinical trials: strategies for trial design
- HRQoL reporting: requirements of global regulatory agencies and why they differ
- Addressing both HRQoL and diversity requirements
- Evolving with novel modalities: the future of HRQoL

Click here to explore this interactive content online

Enjoyed this podcast? find part two here.